

FAMILY PROCESS

Volume 59
Number 2
June 2020

Family Process Institute is an independent, multidisciplinary, transnational organization dedicated to actively promoting social justice, developing and exchanging new theory, research, applied practice, and policy related to diverse families and systems.

FAMILY PROCESS is a peer reviewed, multidisciplinary, international journal that publishes research, training, and theoretical contributions in the broad area of families, family therapy, systems theory, and practice.

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS—Submission Guidelines

All submissions to Family Process are electronic. Authors should submit manuscripts to the Family Process submissions website at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/fp> and follow the directions there for submitting manuscripts. By accessing this website you will be guided stepwise through the creation and uploading of files. For assistance, contact Scholar One technical support at 888-503-1050 (US based number) or 434-964-4100, or via email at mcsupport@thomson.com. The submission form requires the name, mailing address, email address, telephone number, and Fax number of all authors including the corresponding author. The letter that accompanies the manuscript submission should include the total word count of the paper including references.

All correspondence, including Editor's decision and request for revisions, will be by email. Manuscripts must be in English and submitted with the understanding that they are not being submitted simultaneously to another publication or have not already been published in whole or substantial part elsewhere. All case reports should protect patient confidentiality. If accepted, papers become copyright of Family Process. Authors must give signed consent for publication by submitting a copyright license agreement, but permission to use material elsewhere (e.g., in review articles) will normally be granted on request.

Manuscripts—Family Process follows the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Additional information is available at www.apastyle.org. Specifically:

- Electronic manuscripts must be double spaced in 12 point font throughout, including the abstract and references. Pages should be numbered consecutively with the title page as page one and include abstract, text, references, and visuals.
- Manuscripts should not exceed 7000 words or 30 pages, including title page, abstract, text, references, tables, and figures.
- Do not underline; use the italic font.
- A separate title/cover page must include full names of authors in order of their contribution, author affiliation and location, title, author note, byline, and grant support. Because Family Process uses a masked review system, the cover page should be used to provide identifying information about the authors. The authors' names should not appear on subsequent pages and every effort should be made in the text for the authors' identity to remain anonymous.
- Abstracts should be 150-250 words in length.
- Headings must be short. Three levels of headings are used within the text, as follows:
 - Main heading: Centered, Boldface, Uppercase and Lowercase Heading
 - Main subhead: Flush Left, Boldface, Uppercase and Lowercase Side Heading
 - Minor subhead: Indented, boldface , lowercase paragraph heading ending with a period.
- Tables and Figures—Limit the use of tables to data that correlate specifically to article content or communicate large amounts of data efficiently. All tables and figures should be submitted on a separate page, have a separate title, and be cited within the text with placement indicated. For figures, high contrast glossy prints or camera-ready copies must be supplied. Type title, legend, and notes for figures double-spaced on a separate page.

Copy Editing, Proofs, and Off-print/Reprint Orders—After an article has been accepted for publication, it is copy-edited for literary style, conformity to the style of this journal, clarity of presentation, coherence, punctuation, standard usage of terms, spelling, bias free language, etc. After the article is typeset authors may be charged for any changes they wish to make. The author will receive page-proofs from the typesetter that must be returned within 3 days of receipt.

Occasionally, and with the author's permission, an article that has been accepted will be followed by an invited commentary to which the author may submit a rejoinder. The author's unwillingness to participate in this process will in no way affect the publication of an accepted article.

Supporting Information/Supplemental Materials—Authors can place supplemental materials online on the journal's website. To submit such materials, please upload them with the manuscript to ScholarOne. Please make sure that they are in PDF format.

Additionally, all supporting information must be supplied with a legend stating what it is, and the files should be clearly labeled (e.g., use SuppInfo or Supp in the file name). Please restrict file size to 10MB maximum.

Copyright—If your paper is accepted, the author identified as the formal corresponding author for the paper will receive an email prompting them to login into Author Services; where via the Wiley Author Licensing Service (WALS) they will be able to complete the license agreement on behalf of all authors on the paper.

OnlineOpen—Family Process accepts articles for Open Access publication. Please visit <http://olabout.wiley.com/WileyCDA/Section/id-828081.html> for further information about OnlineOpen.

JOURNAL DATA POLICIES

Family Process will consider for review articles previously available as preprints on non-commercial servers such as ArXiv, bioRxiv, psyArXiv, SocArXiv, engrXiv, etc. Authors may also post the submitted version of their manuscript to non-commercial servers at any time. Authors are requested to update any pre-publication versions with a link to the final published article.

Family Process encourages authors to share the data and other artefacts supporting the results in the paper by archiving it in an appropriate public repository. Authors should include a data accessibility statement, including a link to the repository they have used, in order that this statement can be published alongside their paper.

When citing or making claims based on data, authors must refer to the data at the relevant place in the manuscript text and in addition provide a formal citation in the reference list. We recommend the format proposed by <https://www.force11.org/datacitationprinciples>
Authors; Year; Dataset title; Data repository or archive; Version (if any); Persistent identifier (e.g. DOI)
